

March Book Report

For your March Book Report, you will be required to read a fictional chapter book of your choice. Please be sure you pick a book that is on your reading level. If you need help finding a book, please don't hesitate to ask. I have hundreds of books in my classroom library! Also, please be sure you have NOT read this book before. It should be new to you!

You will be creating a gigantic CELLPHONE for your book report this month. You will be pretending that the main character in your book has sent you a text message telling you about the CONFLICT (problem) that he/she is facing in the story. Next, you will be pretending that the main character just called to tell you how the PROBLEM was resolved. Then you will be pretending that you are calling a friend to recommend that he/she should read this book. You will be describing your favorite part of the story and why you are recommending that your friend should read this book. Finally, you will be pretending to receive a photo via text message of the main character in the story you read.

All of these steps for your book report are attached. The attached pages are your ROUGH DRAFT of the book report. Please fill EVERY line with lots of details from your book. Your rough draft is due Tuesday, March 26. This means that you must be finished reading your chapter book by March 24th (or before) in order to do your rough draft.

We will assemble our giant paper cellphones AT SCHOOL and it will go home with you on March 27th to finish. I will edit your rough draft that very same day. You will fill in the parts of the cellphone that need to be completed using the information on your edited rough draft AT HOME. You will also be adding some COLOR to your cellphone as well.

What will I be graded on? Attached is a rubric that I will be using to grade you. YOU will also be a part of grading yourself! No need to complete this rubric at this time.

COLORFUL CELLPHONES and RUBRICS (I will give you another copy.) are due on Wednesday, April 3. This gives you all of Easter break to complete your cellphone. Have fun!
